1. REPORT OF THE CCPC TASK FORCE ON ANTI-BALLISTIC
MISSILE INTELLIGENCE COLLECTION (CCPC-D-20/63, 24
December 1963)

25X1A

[] noted the extensive work done by the Task Force in preparing the report and expressed his appreciation for the effort devoted to it. Other members of the Committee agreed. It was agreed that proper review of the report would require a series of meetings and that a schedule of such meetings would be published. Mr. Grady's suggestion that recommendation 3k be dealt with first will be considered at the next meeting.

4. COMMITTEE FUNCTIONS

25X1A

[] pointed out that a recent press item in the 9 January "New York Times" placed emphasis on a review of intelligence activities. He noted that such reviews have pertinence to the mission of the CCPC as this is the only Committee responsible for the preparation of an inventory of collection actions and that DCID 2/2 gave the CCPC the broadest range in respect to the activities it could examine.
